ENGLISH LANGUAGE AND LITERATURE MA PROGRAMME COURSE LIST

WLE5000 S _I	of a CC. Decreed To be in a seal D. Hiller in D. Paline	C/E	ATC.
WLE5000 SI	· · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · ·		T	U	T	ECTS
	cientific Research Techniques and Publication Ethics	С	3	0	3	6
WLE5010 M	pecial Topics	С	6	0	-	6
	laster Seminar	С	0	2	-	6
WLE5020 M	faster Thesis	С	0	1	-	24
WLE9000 Te	erm Project	Е	3	1	0	8
WLE5030 Li	iterary Text Analysis	Е	3	0	3	6
WLE5040 Co	ontemporary Literary Theory	Е	3	0	3	6
WLE5050 Li	iterary Movements	Е	3	0	3	6
WLE5060 Li	iterature and Mythology	Е	3	0	3	6
	Iodern English Novel	Е	3	0	3	6
	ostmodern English Novel	Е	3	0	3	6
	nglish Drama	Е	3	0	3	6
	nglish Poetry	Е	3	0	3	6
	merican Literature	E	3	0	3	6
	Iodern American Literature	Е	3	0	3	6
	Comparative Literature	E	3	0	3	6
	Furrent Trends in English Language Teaching	Е	3	0	3	6
	Critical Approach to English Language Teaching	E	3	0	3	6
	ritical Geopolitics and Literature	E	3	0	3	6
	Maritime Fiction	E	3	0	3	6
	arratology	E	3	0	3	6
	eneral Linguistics	E	3	0	3	6
	omparative Linguistics	E	3	0	3	6
	emantics and Textual Analysis	E	3	0	3	6
	extual Linguistics	E	3	0	3	6
	ranslation Theories and Methods	E	3	0	3	6
	ranslation Criticism	E	3	0	3	6
	emiotics Studies	E	3	0	3	6
-	cocriticism and Literature	E	3	0	3	6
	sychoanalytical Literary Criticism	E	3	0	3	6
	eminist Literary Theory	E	3	0	3	6
	Ontemporary Cultural Studies	E	3	0	3	6
	oststructuralist and Postmodern Literature	E	3	0	3	6
	ostcolonial Theory and Literature	E	3	0	3	6
	lew Historicism in Literature	E	3	0	3	6
	esearch Methods in Applied Linguistics	E	3	0	3	6
	nstructional Technologies in English Language Teaching	E	3	0	3	6
	heories of Second Language Acquisition	E	3	0	3	6
	cientific Research Techniques and Methods	E	3	0	3	6
	anguage and Linguistics	E	3	0	3	6
	anguage Teaching Methods	E	3	0	3	6
	dorpus Linguistics	E	3	0	3	6
	esearch Seminars in Applied Linguistics	E	3	0	3	6
	dvanced Writing Skills	E	3	0	3	6
	nvestigating Learner Language	E	3	0	3	6

WLE5430	Discourse Analysis	Е	3	0	3	6
WLE5440	Readings in Language and Literature	Е	3	0	3	6
WLE5450	Science Fiction and Fantasy Literature	Е	3	0	3	6
WLE5460	Utopian and Dystopian Literature	Е	3	0	3	6
WLE5470	Adaptation Studies	Е	3	0	3	6
WLE5480	The Victorian Novel	Е	3	0	3	6
WLE5490	Romantic Period in Literature	Е	3	0	3	6

Course Content

Course Code	Course Name			Week irse H
		С	T	U	T	ECTS
SSI5000	Scientific Research Texchniques and Publication Ethics	С	3	0	3	6
	Science, Theory and Events, Determinism, Features of Scientific Method, Scientific Research, Research Definition and Research Types, Planning, Stages and Conducting Research, Selecting Subjects for Health Research and Organizing Research, Measurement Processes and Scales, Examination of Causal Relations, General Information About Research, Sampling and Sampling Methods, Development of Data Collection Tools and Equipment to be Used in the Study, Formation of Survey Method and Survey Questions, Ethical Rules in Research, Preparation of Data for Analysis, Statistical Analysis and Data Summarization, Writing and Writing Rules of Research Reports, Evaluation and Presentation of Research Reports.
WLE5000	Special Topics	C	6	0	0	6
	The aim of the course is to enable the student to gain advanced knowledge in a field of his own choosing, to gain research experience and to start contributing to the academic literature on the subject. The student is expected to learn the latest information of the day in a theoretical or experimental field, and on any subject of interest, and then make an up-to-date, original and useful contribution to the relevant literature. Within the scope of the student's interests, a research project is created on the subject of interest with the lecturer. The student reports on what he has read to the lecturer at the specified hours every week. In addition, the student continues his original work on the subject they have determined under the supervision of the instructor. The course continues with the student presenting an interpretation of the latest literature on the subject to the lecturer, with a mention of the possible contributions to this literature. In this process, the student is also asked to prepare one or two mini projects in this area. The course ends when the work done at the end of the semester is presented to the lecturer for evaluation.
WLE5010	Master Seminar	C	0	2	-	6
	The aim of this course is to contribute to the knowledge and experience of students by making preliminary preparations for their ability to write a thesis with scientific competence. All kinds of work prepared by the students will be under the control of the advisor. It is also among the objectives of the course to eliminate and make up for the missing points in the students from the control of the advisor.
WLE5020	Master Thesis	С	0	1	-	24
	It is a course in which the student handles and evaluates all the information learned in other field courses in the axis of scientific study criteria. This course is the course in which the student writes his master's thesis and is under the control of the advisor.
WLE9000	Term Project	E	3	1	0	8
	Within the framework of the project course, students prepare a project that they will determine in line with the courses they have taken and their interests and get the approval of the project advisor lecturer. The project is delivered to the project consultants at the end of the term. A project course will be opened for all teachers.
WLE5030	Literary Text Analysis	E	3	0	3	6
	Analysis methods of the literary texts and their application to the selected sa Literatures.	mples f	rom E	nglis	h and A	American
WLE5040	Contemporary Literary Theory	E	3	0	3	6
	Literary criticism methods, periods, the concepts forming these, the representing these. A precise history of the Contemporary Literature theo evaluated by various criticism schools. The texts are dealt with by using literary analysis and by taking the intellectual and aesthetical inclinations Moreover, the articles of the valuable critics are explained and discussed.	ry, how	w the	same and	work metho	has been ds of the

WLE5050	Literary Movements	E	3	0	3	6
	This course includes the examination of literary movements periodically.		_	·	_
	periods are aimed to be examined.	ine win	cis air	u woi	iks of t	incsc
WLE5060	Literature and Mythology	Е	3	0	3	6
· · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · ·	The reflection of mythological works to the literary works. Analysis of the			_ myths and how they re-exist in literary work as a symbol are aimed to example myths and how they re-exist in literary work as a symbol are aimed to example myths and how they re-exist in literary work as a symbol are aimed to example myths and how they re-exist in literary work as a symbol are aimed to example myths and how they re-exist in literary work as a symbol are aimed to example myths and how they re-exist in literary work as a symbol are aimed to example myths and how they re-exist in literary work as a symbol are aimed to example myths and how they re-exist in literary work as a symbol are aimed to example myths and how they re-exist in literary work as a symbol are aimed to example myths and how they re-exist in literary work as a symbol are aimed to example myths and how they re-exist in literary work as a symbol are aimed to example myths and how they re-exist in literary work as a symbol are aimed to example myths and how they re-exist in literary work as a symbol are aimed to example myths and how they re-exist in literary work as a symbol are aimed to example myths and how they re-exist in literary work as a symbol are aimed to example myths and how they re-exist in literary work as a symbol are aimed to example myths and how they re-exist in literary work as a symbol are also and how they re-exist in literary work as a symbol are also and how they re-exist in literary work as a symbol are also and how they re-exist in literary work as a symbol are also and how they re-exist in literary work as a symbol are also and how they re-exist in literary work as a symbol are also and how they re-exist in literary work as a symbol are also and how they re-exist in literary work as a symbol are also and how they re-exist in literary work as a symbol are also and how they re-exist in literary work as a symbol are also also and how they re-exist in literary work as a symbol are also also also also also also also also		тыпр с)1 IIIC.	rary w	orks and
WLE5070	Modern English Novel	E	3	0	3	6
,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,	The rise and development of the British Novel is dealt with the social, econ historical process. The analysis of the selected works from the famous writ
WLE5080	Postmodern English Novel	E	3	0	3	6
· · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · ·	The rise and development of the British Novel is dealt with the social, econ	_	_	·		-
	historical process. The analysis of the selected works from the famous writ
WLE5090	English Drama	E	3	0	3	6
WEESOO	The socio-cultural, political, economic and historical events affecting the th	_	_	v		- theatre movements are emphasized and the literary Works of the writers r detail.
WLE5100	English Poetry	E	3	0	3	6
	Prominent qualities of poetry like its language, format, and symbolism are	analyse	ed. The	e deve	elonme	ent of the English Poetry is discussed. The works belonging to various periods are an				piiic	01 1110
WLE5110	American Literature	E	3	0	3	6
	The nationalization and development of American Literature within history	rical fr	amewo	ork ti	11 20th will be handled within socio-economic and cultural constraints.	rivai II	W(, in [1]	20ul	Contai y
WLE5120	Modern American Literature	Е	3	0	3	6
	The nationalization and development of American Literature within history		_	· will be handled within socio-economic and cultural constraints.	nicai ii	arric w	JIK (I)	11 20111	Century
WLE5130	Comparative Literature	Е	3	0	3	6
VI ELECTED	Firstly, the famous works from the English and American Literature and t		_	· by taking the socio-cultural aspects with respects to such elements as t techniques, the periods they belonged to.	iicii wi	10015, 1	.11011	types,	the used
WLE5140	Current Trends in English Language Teaching	E	3	0	3	6
WLE5140
		_	•	Ů
	In this course, students will learn to investigate the foreign language teac	hing us	ing a v	variet	y of qı	ıalitative
	In this course, students will learn to investigate the foreign language teac approaches, such as in-depth interviewing techniques, observation, and text	hing us tual ana	ing a v lysis. S	variet Stude	y of qu nts wil	alitative l explore
	In this course, students will learn to investigate the foreign language teac approaches, such as in-depth interviewing techniques, observation, and text the principles underlying qualitative inquiry and acquire a general underst	hing us tual ana anding	ing a v lysis. S	variet Stude theor	y of qu nts wil	ualitative l explore positions
	In this course, students will learn to investigate the foreign language teac approaches, such as in-depth interviewing techniques, observation, and text the principles underlying qualitative inquiry and acquire a general underst that underlie qualitative methodology. Through lectures, readings, asset	hing us tual ana anding essment	ing a value of the ts, and	variet Stude theor l han	y of qu nts wil retical	ualitative l explore positions research
	In this course, students will learn to investigate the foreign language teac approaches, such as in-depth interviewing techniques, observation, and text the principles underlying qualitative inquiry and acquire a general underst that underlie qualitative methodology. Through lectures, readings, assuractivities, students will explore different ways of investigating foreign language teac.	hing us tual ana anding essment nguage	ing a value of the teaching teaching and the teaching tea	variet Stude theor I han ng in	y of quents will retical ids-on a scien	ualitative I explore positions research ntific but
	In this course, students will learn to investigate the foreign language teac approaches, such as in-depth interviewing techniques, observation, and text the principles underlying qualitative inquiry and acquire a general underst that underlie qualitative methodology. Through lectures, readings, assuractivities, students will explore different ways of investigating foreign land non-statistical way that gives voice to the people we are studying. The	hing us tual ana anding essment nguage e ultim	ing a value of the teaching ate go	variety Stude theor I han ng in al is	y of quents will retical placed and some a scient to let	lalitative l explore positions research ntific but students
	In this course, students will learn to investigate the foreign language teac approaches, such as in-depth interviewing techniques, observation, and text the principles underlying qualitative inquiry and acquire a general underst that underlie qualitative methodology. Through lectures, readings, assuractivities, students will explore different ways of investigating foreign language teac.	hing us tual ana anding essment nguage e ultim	ing a value of the teaching ate go	variety Stude theor I han ng in al is	y of quents will retical placed and some a scient to let	lalitative l explore positions research ntific but students
WLE5150	In this course, students will learn to investigate the foreign language teac approaches, such as in-depth interviewing techniques, observation, and text the principles underlying qualitative inquiry and acquire a general underst that underlie qualitative methodology. Through lectures, readings, associativities, students will explore different ways of investigating foreign language teach that underlie qualitative methodology. Through lectures, readings, associativities, students will explore different ways of investigating foreign language teach approaches, such as in-depth interviewing techniques, observation, and text that underlie qualitative methodology. Through lectures, readings, associated as a such a	hing us tual ana anding essment nguage e ultim	ing a value of the teaching ate go	variety Stude theor I han ng in al is	y of quents will retical placed and some a scient to let	lalitative l explore positions research ntific but students
WLE5150	In this course, students will learn to investigate the foreign language teac approaches, such as in-depth interviewing techniques, observation, and text the principles underlying qualitative inquiry and acquire a general underst that underlie qualitative methodology. Through lectures, readings, associtivities, students will explore different ways of investigating foreign lar non-statistical way that gives voice to the people we are studying. The experience the ways that qualitative researchers do research. It will therefore qualitative research. A Critical Approach to English Language Teaching	hing us tual ana anding essment guage e ultimore be e	ing a vilysis. Soof the tes, and teaching at goomphas	variety Stude theor I han ng in al is sized	y of quents will retical place discount a scient to let applied	palitative l explore positions research ntific but students d aspects
WLE5150	In this course, students will learn to investigate the foreign language teac approaches, such as in-depth interviewing techniques, observation, and text the principles underlying qualitative inquiry and acquire a general underst that underlie qualitative methodology. Through lectures, readings, associativities, students will explore different ways of investigating foreign land non-statistical way that gives voice to the people we are studying. The experience the ways that qualitative researchers do research. It will therefore of qualitative research. A Critical Approach to English Language Teaching This course aims at introducing students a variety of tools used to conduct	hing us tual ana anding essment nguage e ultimore be e	ing a vilysis. Sof the is, and teaching at good mphase 3 cal qua	variety Stude theory I han ng in al is sized O antita	y of quents will retical deson a scient to let applied	ualitative I explore positions research ntific but students d aspects 6 search in
WLE5150	In this course, students will learn to investigate the foreign language teac approaches, such as in-depth interviewing techniques, observation, and text the principles underlying qualitative inquiry and acquire a general underst that underlie qualitative methodology. Through lectures, readings, associtivities, students will explore different ways of investigating foreign lar non-statistical way that gives voice to the people we are studying. The experience the ways that qualitative researchers do research. It will therefore qualitative research. A Critical Approach to English Language Teaching	hing us tual ana anding essment iguage e ultimore be e	ing a vilysis. Sof the is, and teaching at e go emphase 3 cal qually social vilysocial social vilysocial vilys	variety Stude theory I han ng in al is sized	y of quents will retical periods on a scient to let applied 3	palitative l explore positions research ntific but students d aspects 6 search in methods
WLE5150	In this course, students will learn to investigate the foreign language teac approaches, such as in-depth interviewing techniques, observation, and text the principles underlying qualitative inquiry and acquire a general underst that underlie qualitative methodology. Through lectures, readings, assuractivities, students will explore different ways of investigating foreign land non-statistical way that gives voice to the people we are studying. The experience the ways that qualitative researchers do research. It will therefor for qualitative research. A Critical Approach to English Language Teaching This course aims at introducing students a variety of tools used to conduct foreign language teaching also to make students familiar with possibilities.	hing us tual ana anding essment inguage e ultimore be e	ing a value of the teaching at eaching at eaching at each go emphase at a quality society and the teaching at each go each quality society and the teaching at each go each quality society and the teaching at each go each g	variety Stude theory I han ng in al is sized O antitatial resected to	y of quents will retical periods on a scient to let applied 3 tive research to be contained by the contained	alitative I explore positions research ntific but students d aspects 6 search in methods ompetent
WLE5150	In this course, students will learn to investigate the foreign language teac approaches, such as in-depth interviewing techniques, observation, and text the principles underlying qualitative inquiry and acquire a general underst that underlie qualitative methodology. Through lectures, readings, associativities, students will explore different ways of investigating foreign lar non-statistical way that gives voice to the people we are studying. The experience the ways that qualitative researchers do research. It will therefor qualitative research. A Critical Approach to English Language Teaching This course aims at introducing students a variety of tools used to conduct foreign language teaching also to make students familiar with possibilities based on quantitative data in the field. After the completion of the course stuto apply a chosen method in practice by carrying out their own survey or the results. What it means to be "scientific" and the assumptions behind	hing us tual ana anding essment nguage e ultimore be e	ing a value of the distance of	variet Stude theord han ng in al is sized antitatial resected to a type appro-	y of quents will retical particular disconna scient to let applied tive research to be contained and a pach to be contained and a	alitative I explore positions research ntific but students d aspects 6 search in methods competent inalyzing o foreign
WLE5150	In this course, students will learn to investigate the foreign language teac approaches, such as in-depth interviewing techniques, observation, and text the principles underlying qualitative inquiry and acquire a general underst that underlie qualitative methodology. Through lectures, readings, associativities, students will explore different ways of investigating foreign lan non-statistical way that gives voice to the people we are studying. The experience the ways that qualitative researchers do research. It will therefor qualitative research. A Critical Approach to English Language Teaching This course aims at introducing students a variety of tools used to conduct foreign language teaching also to make students familiar with possibilities based on quantitative data in the field. After the completion of the course stuto apply a chosen method in practice by carrying out their own survey or the results. What it means to be "scientific" and the assumptions behind language teaching will be emphasized in the first part of the course. It	hing us tual ana anding essment guage e ultimore be e E empirics to app dents at other red a scies will b	ing a value of the distance of	variet Stude theord I han ng in al is sized O antita ial resected to type appro	y of quents will retical place ds-on a scient to let applied 3 tive research to be compared to be and a poach to some	alitative I explore positions research ntific but students d aspects 6 search in methods ompetent nalyzing o foreign concepts
WLE5150	In this course, students will learn to investigate the foreign language teac approaches, such as in-depth interviewing techniques, observation, and text the principles underlying qualitative inquiry and acquire a general underst that underlie qualitative methodology. Through lectures, readings, asse activities, students will explore different ways of investigating foreign lan non-statistical way that gives voice to the people we are studying. The experience the ways that qualitative researchers do research. It will therefor of qualitative research. A Critical Approach to English Language Teaching This course aims at introducing students a variety of tools used to conduct foreign language teaching also to make students familiar with possibilities based on quantitative data in the field. After the completion of the course stute to apply a chosen method in practice by carrying out their own survey or the results. What it means to be "scientific" and the assumptions behind language teaching will be emphasized in the first part of the course. It associated with quantitative foreign language teaching research and turn	hing us tual ana anding essment guage e ultimore be e E empirics to app dents an other red a scie will be to issue	ing a value of the distance of	variet Stude theory I han ng in al is sized O antita ial resected to type appro	y of quents will retical place ds-on a scient to let applied 3 tive research to be contained and a coach to some arch de correct de coach to some arch de coach de coa	alitative I explore positions research ntific but students d aspects 6 search in methods ompetent malyzing o foreign concepts sign and
WLE5150	In this course, students will learn to investigate the foreign language teac approaches, such as in-depth interviewing techniques, observation, and text the principles underlying qualitative inquiry and acquire a general underst that underlie qualitative methodology. Through lectures, readings, asse activities, students will explore different ways of investigating foreign lan non-statistical way that gives voice to the people we are studying. The experience the ways that qualitative researchers do research. It will therefor of qualitative research. A Critical Approach to English Language Teaching This course aims at introducing students a variety of tools used to conduct foreign language teaching also to make students familiar with possibilities based on quantitative data in the field. After the completion of the course stute to apply a chosen method in practice by carrying out their own survey or the results. What it means to be "scientific" and the assumptions behind language teaching will be emphasized in the first part of the course. It associated with quantitative foreign language teaching research and turn measurement, including sampling and survey techniques. In the second part	hing us tual ana anding essment guage e ultimore be e E empirics to app dents at other red a scie will be to issurt of the	ing a value of the teaching at the good of the teaching at	variet Stude theory theory all is sized to type appropried research it was a sized to the type appropried research it was a sized to type appropried research it was a sized to type appropried research it was a sized to type appropried to type appropried appropried research it was a sized to type appropried to type appropried type ap	y of quents will retical place discourse to let applied 3 tive research to be contained as one to some a contained as one con	alitative I explore positions research ntific but students d aspects 6 search in methods competent malyzing o foreign concepts ssign and examined
WLE5150	In this course, students will learn to investigate the foreign language teac approaches, such as in-depth interviewing techniques, observation, and text the principles underlying qualitative inquiry and acquire a general underst that underlie qualitative methodology. Through lectures, readings, associated with explore different ways of investigating foreign land non-statistical way that gives voice to the people we are studying. The experience the ways that qualitative researchers do research. It will therefor qualitative research. A Critical Approach to English Language Teaching This course aims at introducing students a variety of tools used to conduct foreign language teaching also to make students familiar with possibilities based on quantitative data in the field. After the completion of the course stute to apply a chosen method in practice by carrying out their own survey or the results. What it means to be "scientific" and the assumptions behind language teaching will be emphasized in the first part of the course. It associated with quantitative foreign language teaching research and turn measurement, including sampling and survey techniques. In the second parts of the second pa	hing us tual ana anding essment guage e ultimore be e E empirics to app dents at other red a scie will be to issurt of the	ing a value of the teaching at the good of the teaching at	variet Stude theory theory all is sized to type appropried research it was a sized to the type appropried research it was a sized to type appropried research it was a sized to type appropried research it was a sized to type appropried to type appropried appropried research it was a sized to type appropried to type appropried type ap	y of quents will retical place discourse to let applied 3 tive research to be contained as one to some a contained as one con	alitative I explore positions research ntific but students d aspects 6 search in methods ompetent malyzing o foreign concepts sign and examined
	In this course, students will learn to investigate the foreign language teac approaches, such as in-depth interviewing techniques, observation, and text the principles underlying qualitative inquiry and acquire a general underst that underlie qualitative methodology. Through lectures, readings, associativities, students will explore different ways of investigating foreign lan non-statistical way that gives voice to the people we are studying. The experience the ways that qualitative researchers do research. It will therefor qualitative research. A Critical Approach to English Language Teaching This course aims at introducing students a variety of tools used to conduct foreign language teaching also to make students familiar with possibilities based on quantitative data in the field. After the completion of the course stute to apply a chosen method in practice by carrying out their own survey or the results. What it means to be "scientific" and the assumptions behind language teaching will be emphasized in the first part of the course. It associated with quantitative foreign language teaching research and turn measurement, including sampling and survey techniques. In the second parts of some statistical procedures (descriptive statistics— univariate, bivariate describing the subjects of foreign language teaching.	hing us tual ana anding essmentinguage e ultimore be e e e e e e e e e e e e e e e e e	ing a values of the teaching at go amphase at go amphase at go amphase at go amphase at go and the teaching at go amphase at go	variet Stude theor I han ng in al is sized antita ial resected to type appro ored resea e it we	y of quents will retical adsonate to let applied tive research to be contained and about to some and an analysis of the end and an analysis of the end and analysis of the end and analysis of the end analysi	alitative I explore positions research ntific but students d aspects 6 search in methods ompetent malyzing o foreign concepts sign and examined ysis) for
	In this course, students will learn to investigate the foreign language teac approaches, such as in-depth interviewing techniques, observation, and text the principles underlying qualitative inquiry and acquire a general underst that underlie qualitative methodology. Through lectures, readings, associativities, students will explore different ways of investigating foreign lan non-statistical way that gives voice to the people we are studying. The experience the ways that qualitative researchers do research. It will therefor qualitative research. A Critical Approach to English Language Teaching This course aims at introducing students a variety of tools used to conduct foreign language teaching also to make students familiar with possibilities based on quantitative data in the field. After the completion of the course stute to apply a chosen method in practice by carrying out their own survey or the results. What it means to be "scientific" and the assumptions behind language teaching will be emphasized in the first part of the course. It associated with quantitative foreign language teaching research and turn measurement, including sampling and survey techniques. In the second part some statistical procedures (descriptive statistics— univariate, bivariate describing the subjects of foreign language teaching. Critical Geopolitics and Literature	hing us tual ana anding essment guage e ultimore be e e empirics to app dents at other red a scie will be to issurt of the e, multi	ing a values of the teaching at go emphase and quality societies and teaching at go emphase and the teaching at go emphase at go emphas	variet Stude theor I han ng in al is sized antita ial resected in type appro ored resea e it w	y of quents will retical dis-on a scient to let applied tive research to be contained and a contained to the	alitative I explore positions research ntific but students d aspects 6 search in methods ompetent nalyzing o foreign concepts sign and examined ysis) for
WLE5150 WLE5160	In this course, students will learn to investigate the foreign language teac approaches, such as in-depth interviewing techniques, observation, and text the principles underlying qualitative inquiry and acquire a general underst that underlie qualitative methodology. Through lectures, readings, associativities, students will explore different ways of investigating foreign lan non-statistical way that gives voice to the people we are studying. The experience the ways that qualitative researchers do research. It will therefor of qualitative research. A Critical Approach to English Language Teaching This course aims at introducing students a variety of tools used to conduct foreign language teaching also to make students familiar with possibilities based on quantitative data in the field. After the completion of the course stute to apply a chosen method in practice by carrying out their own survey or the results. What it means to be "scientific" and the assumptions behind language teaching will be emphasized in the first part of the course. It associated with quantitative foreign language teaching research and turn measurement, including sampling and survey techniques. In the second part some statistical procedures (descriptive statistics— univariate, bivariate describing the subjects of foreign language teaching. Critical Geopolitics and Literature In this course, the traditional and postmodern distinction of geopolitics, which	hing us tual ana anding essment guage e ultimore be e e empiricas to app dents an other red a scie will be to issue to of the e, multiple E ch is the	ing a value of the distance of the explanation of the distance of the distance of the distance of the distance of the explanation of the distance of the dista	variet Stude theory theory all is sized on tital research appropried research theory appropried research the research theory appropried research the researc	y of quents will retical place a scient to let applied a scient to be considered a scient to some a scient de la scient to be considered a scient to be considered as scient to be considered	alitative I explore positions research ntific but students d aspects 6 search in methods ompetent malyzing o foreign concepts sign and examined ysis) for 6 I century,
	In this course, students will learn to investigate the foreign language teac approaches, such as in-depth interviewing techniques, observation, and text the principles underlying qualitative inquiry and acquire a general underst that underlie qualitative methodology. Through lectures, readings, associated activities, students will explore different ways of investigating foreign lan non-statistical way that gives voice to the people we are studying. The experience the ways that qualitative researchers do research. It will therefor for qualitative research. A Critical Approach to English Language Teaching This course aims at introducing students a variety of tools used to conduct foreign language teaching also to make students familiar with possibilities based on quantitative data in the field. After the completion of the course stute to apply a chosen method in practice by carrying out their own survey or the results. What it means to be "scientific" and the assumptions behind language teaching will be emphasized in the first part of the course. It associated with quantitative foreign language teaching research and turn measurement, including sampling and survey techniques. In the second part some statistical procedures (descriptive statistics—univariate, bivariate describing the subjects of foreign language teaching. Critical Geopolitics and Literature In this course, the traditional and postmodern distinction of geopolitics, which will be revealed. In the context of critical geopolitics, which is the	hing us tual ana anding essmenting uage e ultimore be e e e e e e e e e e e e e e e e e	ing a value of the distance of	variet Stude theory the	y of quents will retical adson a scient to let applied tive research to be contained and a coach to some a analysis and a scient additional analysis and a scient additional add	alitative l explore positions research ntific but students d aspects 6 search in methods ompetent malyzing o foreign concepts sign and examined ysis) for 6 century, g of the
	In this course, students will learn to investigate the foreign language teac approaches, such as in-depth interviewing techniques, observation, and text the principles underlying qualitative inquiry and acquire a general underst that underlie qualitative methodology. Through lectures, readings, associated will explore different ways of investigating foreign lan non-statistical way that gives voice to the people we are studying. The experience the ways that qualitative researchers do research. It will therefor qualitative research. A Critical Approach to English Language Teaching This course aims at introducing students a variety of tools used to conduct foreign language teaching also to make students familiar with possibilities based on quantitative data in the field. After the completion of the course stute to apply a chosen method in practice by carrying out their own survey or the results. What it means to be "scientific" and the assumptions behind language teaching will be emphasized in the first part of the course. It associated with quantitative foreign language teaching research and turn measurement, including sampling and survey techniques. In the second part some statistical procedures (descriptive statistics—univariate, bivariate describing the subjects of foreign language teaching. Critical Geopolitics and Literature In this course, the traditional and postmodern distinction of geopolitics, which will be revealed. In the context of critical geopolitics, which is the gostmodern era, the construction of discourse, representation, and image	hing us tual ana anding essmenting uage e ultimore be e e e e e e e e e e e e e e e e e	ing a value of the distance of	variet Stude theory the	y of quents will retical adson a scient to let applied tive research to be contained and a coach to some a analysis and a scient additional analysis and a scient additional add	alitative I explore positions research ntific but students d aspects 6 search in methods competent malyzing o foreign concepts sign and examined ysis) for 6 a century, g of the
WLE5160	In this course, students will learn to investigate the foreign language teac approaches, such as in-depth interviewing techniques, observation, and text the principles underlying qualitative inquiry and acquire a general underst that underlie qualitative methodology. Through lectures, readings, ass activities, students will explore different ways of investigating foreign lan non-statistical way that gives voice to the people we are studying. The experience the ways that qualitative researchers do research. It will therefor of qualitative research. A Critical Approach to English Language Teaching This course aims at introducing students a variety of tools used to conduct foreign language teaching also to make students familiar with possibilities based on quantitative data in the field. After the completion of the course stute to apply a chosen method in practice by carrying out their own survey or the results. What it means to be "scientific" and the assumptions behind language teaching will be emphasized in the first part of the course. It associated with quantitative foreign language teaching research and turn measurement, including sampling and survey techniques. In the second parsome statistical procedures (descriptive statistics— univariate, bivariate describing the subjects of foreign language teaching. Critical Geopolitics and Literature In this course, the traditional and postmodern distinction of geopolitics, which will be revealed. In the context of critical geopolitics, which is the postmodern era, the construction of discourse, representation, and imagelected works.	hing us tual ana anding essment guage e ultimore be e e e e e e e e e e e e e e e e e	ing a valysis. So of the tas, and teaching at go omphase at a	variety Stude theory I han ng in al is sized o antitatial reseated in type appropriate appropriate to the data appropriate to	y of quents will retical adson a scient to let applied tive research to be commerched a analy and a scient applied to be commerched a analy and a scient adsonable a scient a scient adsonable a scient a scient a scient adsonable a scient a s	alitative l explore positions research ntific but students d aspects 6 search in methods ompetent malyzing of foreign concepts sign and examined ysis) for 6 century, g of the d in the
WLE5160	In this course, students will learn to investigate the foreign language teac approaches, such as in-depth interviewing techniques, observation, and text the principles underlying qualitative inquiry and acquire a general underst that underlie qualitative methodology. Through lectures, readings, associativities, students will explore different ways of investigating foreign lan non-statistical way that gives voice to the people we are studying. The experience the ways that qualitative researchers do research. It will therefor qualitative research. A Critical Approach to English Language Teaching This course aims at introducing students a variety of tools used to conduct foreign language teaching also to make students familiar with possibilities based on quantitative data in the field. After the completion of the course stute to apply a chosen method in practice by carrying out their own survey or the results. What it means to be "scientific" and the assumptions behind language teaching will be emphasized in the first part of the course. It associated with quantitative foreign language teaching research and turn measurement, including sampling and survey techniques. In the second parsome statistical procedures (descriptive statistics— univariate, bivariate describing the subjects of foreign language teaching. Critical Geopolitics and Literature In this course, the traditional and postmodern distinction of geopolitics, which will be revealed. In the context of critical geopolitics, which is the gostmodern era, the construction of discourse, representation, and imagelected works. Maritime Fiction	hing us tual ana anding essmentinguage e ultimore be elemented a science will be to issue to of the elemented to the elemented to issue to fine elemented to issue elemen	ing a valysis. So of the is, and teaching at go imphase and ly sociate expenses and in the interest of course variate. 3	variet Stude theory I han ng in al is sized o antitatial reserved in type appropriate app	y of quents will retical adsonate to let applied tive research to be commented and about to some and a some a s	alitative I explore positions research ntific but students d aspects 6 search in methods ompetent nalyzing o foreign concepts sign and examined yxis) for 6 a century, g of the d in the
WLE5160	In this course, students will learn to investigate the foreign language tead approaches, such as in-depth interviewing techniques, observation, and text the principles underlying qualitative inquiry and acquire a general underst that underlie qualitative methodology. Through lectures, readings, associated with explore different ways of investigating foreign land non-statistical way that gives voice to the people we are studying. The experience the ways that qualitative researchers do research. It will therefor qualitative research. A Critical Approach to English Language Teaching This course aims at introducing students a variety of tools used to conduct foreign language teaching also to make students familiar with possibilities based on quantitative data in the field. After the completion of the course stute to apply a chosen method in practice by carrying out their own survey or the results. What it means to be "scientific" and the assumptions behind language teaching will be emphasized in the first part of the course. It associated with quantitative foreign language teaching research and turn measurement, including sampling and survey techniques. In the second parsone statistical procedures (descriptive statistics— univariate, bivariate describing the subjects of foreign language teaching. Critical Geopolitics and Literature In this course, the traditional and postmodern distinction of geopolitics, which will be revealed. In the context of critical geopolitics, which is the postmodern era, the construction of discourse, representation, and imagelected works. Maritime Fiction This course focuses on how Britain's success at sea has shaped the country search and survey to the postmodern era, the construction of discourse, representation, and imagelected works.	hing us tual ana anding essment guage e ultimore be e e e e e e e e e e e e e e e e e	ing a values of the tas, and teaching at go amphase at a go am	variety Stude theory I han ng in al is sized antita ial resected to type appro ored resea e it w e data	y of quents will retical ads-on a scient to let applied tive research to be contained and about to some and a scient de a analyst and a scient de a scient de a analyst and a scient de a analyst analyst and a scient de a analyst analyst and a scient de a analyst anal	alitative I explore positions research ntific but students d aspects 6 search in methods ompetent nalyzing oforeign concepts ssign and examined yxis) for 6 century, g of the ed in the 6 ocial, and
WLE5160 WLE5170	In this course, students will learn to investigate the foreign language tead approaches, such as in-depth interviewing techniques, observation, and text the principles underlying qualitative inquiry and acquire a general underst that underlie qualitative methodology. Through lectures, readings, associativities, students will explore different ways of investigating foreign lan non-statistical way that gives voice to the people we are studying. The experience the ways that qualitative researchers do research. It will therefor qualitative research. A Critical Approach to English Language Teaching This course aims at introducing students a variety of tools used to conduct foreign language teaching also to make students familiar with possibilities based on quantitative data in the field. After the completion of the course stute to apply a chosen method in practice by carrying out their own survey or the results. What it means to be "scientific" and the assumptions behind language teaching will be emphasized in the first part of the course. It associated with quantitative foreign language teaching research and turn measurement, including sampling and survey techniques. In the second parsome statistical procedures (descriptive statistics— univariate, bivariate describing the subjects of foreign language teaching. Critical Geopolitics and Literature In this course, the traditional and postmodern distinction of geopolitics, which will be revealed. In the context of critical geopolitics, which is the postmodern era, the construction of discourse, representation, and imagelected works. Maritime Fiction This course focuses on how Britain's success at sea has shaped the country cultural conditions. In this context, the selected novels from 17th, 18th, and	hing us tual ana anding essment guage e ultimore be e empirics to app dents an other red a scie will be to issue t of the e, multiple to the end of the en	ing a values of the tas, and teaching at go amphase at a go am	variety Stude theory I han ng in al is sized antita ial resected to type appro ored resea e it w e data	y of quents will retical ads-on a scient to let applied tive research to be contained and about to some and a scient de a analyst and a scient de a scient de a analyst and a scient de a analyst analyst and a scient de a analyst analyst and a scient de a analyst anal	alitative I explore positions research ntific but students d aspects 6 search in methods ompetent malyzing o foreign concepts sign and examined ysis) for 6 century, g of the d in the 6 ocial, and camined
WLE5160 WLE5170	In this course, students will learn to investigate the foreign language tead approaches, such as in-depth interviewing techniques, observation, and text the principles underlying qualitative inquiry and acquire a general underst that underlie qualitative methodology. Through lectures, readings, associated with explore different ways of investigating foreign land non-statistical way that gives voice to the people we are studying. The experience the ways that qualitative researchers do research. It will therefor qualitative research. A Critical Approach to English Language Teaching This course aims at introducing students a variety of tools used to conduct foreign language teaching also to make students familiar with possibilities based on quantitative data in the field. After the completion of the course stute to apply a chosen method in practice by carrying out their own survey or the results. What it means to be "scientific" and the assumptions behind language teaching will be emphasized in the first part of the course. It associated with quantitative foreign language teaching research and turn measurement, including sampling and survey techniques. In the second parsone statistical procedures (descriptive statistics— univariate, bivariate describing the subjects of foreign language teaching. Critical Geopolitics and Literature In this course, the traditional and postmodern distinction of geopolitics, which will be revealed. In the context of critical geopolitics, which is the postmodern era, the construction of discourse, representation, and imagelected works. Maritime Fiction This course focuses on how Britain's success at sea has shaped the country search and survey to the postmodern era, the construction of discourse, representation, and imagelected works.	hing us tual ana anding essment guage e ultimore be e e e e e e e e e e e e e e e e e	ing a values of the tas, and teaching at go amphase at a go am	variety Stude theory I han ng in al is sized antita ial resected to type appro ored resea e it w e data	y of quents will retical ads-on a scient to let applied tive research to be contained and about to some and a scient de a analyst and a scient de a scient de a analyst and a scient de a analyst analyst and a scient de a analyst analyst and a scient de a analyst anal	alitative l explore positions research in students d aspects 6 search in methods ompetent malyzing of foreign concepts sign and examined sysis) for 6 century, g of the ed in the 6 ocial, and
	In this course, students will learn to investigate the foreign language tead approaches, such as in-depth interviewing techniques, observation, and text the principles underlying qualitative inquiry and acquire a general underst that underlie qualitative methodology. Through lectures, readings, associativities, students will explore different ways of investigating foreign lan non-statistical way that gives voice to the people we are studying. The experience the ways that qualitative researchers do research. It will therefor qualitative research. A Critical Approach to English Language Teaching This course aims at introducing students a variety of tools used to conduct foreign language teaching also to make students familiar with possibilities based on quantitative data in the field. After the completion of the course stute to apply a chosen method in practice by carrying out their own survey or the results. What it means to be "scientific" and the assumptions behind language teaching will be emphasized in the first part of the course. It associated with quantitative foreign language teaching research and turn measurement, including sampling and survey techniques. In the second parsome statistical procedures (descriptive statistics— univariate, bivariate describing the subjects of foreign language teaching. Critical Geopolitics and Literature In this course, the traditional and postmodern distinction of geopolitics, which will be revealed. In the context of critical geopolitics, which is the postmodern era, the construction of discourse, representation, and imagelected works. Maritime Fiction This course focuses on how Britain's success at sea has shaped the country cultural conditions. In this context, the selected novels from 17th, 18th, and	hing us tual ana anding essment guage e ultim ore be e element of the element of	ing a valysis. So of the tas, and teaching at go imphase and ly sociate expensions of the course variate and the course variate v	variety Stude theory I han ng in al is sized o antita ial resected to resea e it w e data o n of th nders be ex polities will o is cou	y of quents will retical adsonate to let applied to let applied to be considered and a coach to some a coach to some and a coach to some a coa	alitative lexplore positions research natific but students daspects 6 search in methods ompetent nalyzing of foreign concepts sign and examined ysis) for 6 century, g of the din the diamined samined samined samined samined samined samined for stly, the techniques. Some theorists such as Roland Barthes, A. J. Greimas and C. After giving the concepts related to narratology and providing a theoretic type will be focused on. In this respect, the types of tale analysis, the comm and narrator types will be analyzed within their reflection in selected tales.	cal back unicatio	groun	d, tal	e as a	narration

WLE5190	General Linguistics	E	3	0	3	6
WLESISU	History of Linguistics, its effects on language teaching and other areas,		_	_	_	_ analysis of the basic concepts and principles of linguistics are aimed to be			еопе	s and
WLE5200	Comparative Linguistics	E	3	0	3	6
	The comparative analysis of language categories and structures, word and	sentenc	e struc	ctures	and tl	neir application styles in both languages.
WLE5210	Semantics and Textual Analysis	E	3	0	3	6
	Analysis of semantical structures, meaning changes and similarities in Turwith the texts.	kish an	d Engl	ish iı	conne	ection
WLE5220	Textual Linguistics	E	3	0	3	6
	Various texts of textual linguists are studies and discussed. Measurement a	and rule	s in te	xt org	anizin	g and perception, text editing grammar is evaluated in terms of subject and funct			012	,	Suna
WLE5230	Translation Theories and Methods	E	3	0	3	6
	The general concepts, theories and approaches are examined. The translation	ation th		' ide	as in r process are examined and in terms of those ideas different text types are an features. It is aimed to make objective translation criticism on the basis of The detailed analysis of source texts is handled comparatively.	alysed l	y lool	king i	nto the	eir textual
WLE5240	Translation Criticism	Е	3	0	3	6
	Introduction to probable theoretical approaches that could be adopted in co		_	- to form translation criticism articles.	parat	110	moial	.on stu	ares and
WLE5250	Semiotics Studies	Е	3	0	3	6
EEC2C0	The course includes theoretical and conceptual considerations of Semiotic		_		_
	Semiotics will be approached within its relation to structuralism and post-			y Sau	ssurc.
WLE5260	Ecocriticism and Literature	E	3	0	3	6
	Ecologic thinking is evaluated starting from its roots and dealt within its re	_	_			-
WI E5270		E	3	0	3
WLE5270	Psychoanalytical Literary Criticism		_			6
	In the light of Sigmund Freud's theories, the developments of psychoanaly		the us	age o	Ì
WI E5200	psychoanalytic theories in literary criticism will be studied during the cour	E E	3	0	3	6
WLE5280	Feminist Literary Theory		_	_	_
	The factors regarding the origin of feminist literature, works of arts that ca regarded as feminist writings in the times they were created will be examinworks.
WLE5290	Contemporary Cultural Studies	E	3	0	3	6
	In this course, the dominant and non-dominant cultures' nature will be dep	oicted in	terms	of h	istorica	al, political, philosophical and socio-economical basis. An understanding of i the areas such as literary theory, media, translation studies and ethnicity w
WLE5300	Poststructuralist and Postmodern Literature	Е	3	0	3	6
	The reflections of poststructuralism and postmodernism that are the p	romine	nt lite	rary	theori	es of the twentieth century will be examined in literary works
WLE5310	Postcolonial Theory and Literature	E	3	0	3	6
	This course aims to offer a comprehensive study of literary representation	ns of co	loniali	sm, i	mperia	alism and neocolonialism in the modern period starting from the nineteenth-century	to the p	resent.	With	a spe	cial focus on major authors and texts in postcolonial theory and literature, it aims to	analyze	the d	ynam	ics bet	ween the colonizer and the colonized through texts from a wide range of Western study the literary representations of colonialism, decolonialism, neo-coloni diaspora, and migrancy in relation to the conceptual categories such as ra and postcolonial constructs such as orientalism, mimicry, hybridity, co globalization, the Third World will be discussed in order to understand post	colonia	l subje	ctivit	y as re	presented
*	in literary texts.	1 _	T -	I _
WLE5320	New Historicism in Literature	E	3	0	3	6
	This course aims to analyze the literary works with new historicist criticis.	m by ha	andling	g the	issues	related to history and literature with a poststructuralist point of view.	1	_	1 -	_
WLE5330	Research Methods in Applied Linguistics	E	3	0	3	6
	This course covers the fundamental concepts of research design and statis social sciences. Ethical principles in research, qualitative, quantitative m	nethods,	actio	n res	earch (designing questionnaires and interviews, literature review, data analysis and presentat course.	ion are	major	topic	scove	red in the

WLE5340	Instructional Technologies in English Language Teaching	E	3	0	3	6
	This course examines the current developments in the use of instructional to Major topics to be explored include computer assisted language learning, codesign principles, making presentations, searching for information and inst	ourse m	nanage	ment	systen
WLE5350	Theories of Second Language Acquisition	E	3	0	3	6
WLESSSU	This course aims at reviewing the field of second language acquisition (SLA an understanding of the way in which second languages are learned and various theories of second language acquisition (e.g., Innateness and Un Input/Output, sociocultural theory), developmental properties of first an analysis of the first and second language use through corpus data.	A) in ord acquire iversal	der to ped. Th	provide cou mar,	de stud irse wi Conne	ents with ll survey ctionism,
WLE5360	Scientific Research Techniques and Methods	E	3	0	3	6
	Scientific study-research methods are analyzed in detail and practices are made. The development techniques of the private prose-writing are given with the selected texts. Data collecting, source-research and research and evaluation methods on various subjects are analyzed.
WLE5370	Language and Linguistics	E	3	0	3	6
	This is an introductory course to the nature and history of language itself. If of linguistics and distinguishing properties of language analysis	The foci	us is o	n the	basic	concepts
WLE5380	Language Teaching Methods	E	3	0	3	6
	This course covers various techniques such as content-based, task-based, language teaching and it includes relevant small-scale applications of these			ed ar	d corp	ous based
WLE5390	Corpus Linguistics	E	3	0	3	6
	This is an introductory course to corpus linguistics-a recently emerging fiel explored are concepts in corpus linguistics, basic principles in corpus corpusers corpora, analysing English through corpus linguistics methods, English through corpus data.	mpilati	on, in	vesti	gations	through
WLE5400	Research Seminars in Applied Linguistics	E	3	0	3	6
	This course is intended for graduate students who are actively engaged in pertain to one or more branches of Applied Linguistics. The syllabi, readir are tailored around specific research interests in applied linguistics.
WLE5410	Advanced Writing Skills In this course, students evaluate different perspectives through the analysis of various academic writings, use critical thinking skills, analyse information structure in academic texts. Language use required by specific academic fields, referencing and citations are among the major topics of the course.
WLE5420	Investigating Learner Language	Е	3	0	3	6
	This course introduces the students the structure of learner language and psycholinguistic features of interlanguage. This course provides the student of interlanguage theory on language learning and teaching.
WLE5430	Discourse Analysis	E	3	0	3	6
	This course examines the socio-cultural and ideological aspects of literary to Theories of such philosophers as Mikhail Bakhtin, Michel Foucault, Edward Jameson and Terry Eagleton, and concepts such as power, knowledge, social social social such as power, knowledge, social s	ard Said	d, Jaco	ques l	Derrida	a, Fredric
WLE5440	Readings in Language and Literature	E	3	0	3	6
	This course covers the social, cultural and ideological properties of langua and ideology in language are among the main topics of this course.	ige. Lai	nguage	e phil	osoph	y, culture
WLE5450	Science Fiction and Fantasy Literature	E	3	0	3	6
,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,	This course will focus on the critical studies on science fiction and fantas	•		he o	rigins a	and basic features of these genres will also be studied through classical and contemporary	orary w	orks.
WLE5460	features of these genres will also be studied through classical and contempt. Utopian and Dystopian Literature	orary w E	orks.	0	3	6
		E pia' an	d 'dys	topia	3 and v	6 arious
	Utopian and Dystopian Literature This course will focus on the semantic connotations of the concepts of 'uto theoretical studies will be studied in this context. In addition, the selected utopic context.	E pia' an	d 'dys	topia	3 and v	6 arious
WLE5460	Utopian and Dystopian Literature This course will focus on the semantic connotations of the concepts of 'uto theoretical studies will be studied in this context. In addition, the selected u analysed using various critical methods.	E ppia' and itopian/ E en litera	3 d 'dystop /dystop ature a	topia pian t 0 nd ci	3 and vexts was a second of the second of th	6 arious ill be 6 It is also

	This course aims to explore the Victorian novel in the context of nineteenth-century Britain. In focusing on both canonical and popular works of the time, the course will trace the novel genre's status as a mass-market genre during the Victorian era. It will analyze the arguments in relation to "the rise of the novel" in the eighteenth century and to the problematization of the Victorian novel by the modernist movement.
WLE5490	Romantic Period in Literature E 3 0 3 6
	This course offers an immersive journey into the world of British Romantic Literature, a captivating period literary history characterized by passion, imagination, and a profound connection to nature. Through the students works and authors of the Romantic era, students will gain an understanding of the social, cultural, are philosophical contexts that shaped this transformative period in British literature.	lу					